Description of the Industry

In the past decade, the Canadian radio industry has witnessed dramatic changes in the competitive landscape. There has been a shift from a highly fragmented industry environment, with many small and regional players, to one that is concentrated, with few large media players owning the majority of licences in Canada.

According to the CRTC, as at December 31, 2015, there were 719 private commercial radio licences outstanding. 82% of the total outstanding licences were FM stations and 18% were AM stations. 269 of the licences were held by four companies: Corus, Rogers, BCE and Newcap. These four major competitors accounted for approximately $0.96 billion of revenue from the total $1.6 billion of radio revenue in Canada, or approximately 60%. Among these four competitors, Newcap is the only pure-play radio company. 2015 radio revenue generated by the private radio operators was on par with 2014.

The radio business continues to be one of the most cost-effective media outlets available to reach a targeted demographic, within a specific time frame. For this reason, radio is an attractive media vehicle to communicate information that is time-sensitive, urgent and directed at a particular group of individuals.

Radio operators continue to watch developments in new media channels including satellite radio and internet radio. Radio operators are now marketing the station franchises via the web. Web sites with high media content, in addition to streaming, as well as mobile device apps provide additional means for the Company to reach its audience.

Narrative Description of the Business

Description of the Radio Business

The Company operates in the radio broadcasting industry and broadcasts in a variety of formats based on knowledge of each market's needs. The majority of the Company's revenue is advertising-based and therefore subject to economic fluctuations.

Radio stations generate revenue by selling advertising airtime to clients, who are primarily in the retail industry. Companies compete for local and national advertising revenue by developing a base of listeners within desirable demographic segments in their local market. This requires competitive competence in the areas of station programming, technology, community relations, creative talent development and sales promotion. Radio stations compete for revenue with other radio stations and other forms of media, including print, television, outdoor, direct mail, on-line services and social media.

Radio's strength is that it is an effective method to reach specific demographic segments through its targeted time slots and its ability to immediately reach the desired audience. Radio stations define their target demographic group through their format and programming focus. Stations will classify their on-air format in groupings such as classic rock, current rock or pop, new country, smooth jazz or today's current music. Each station's format appeals to a specific segment of the population, and the various programs on the stations will provide even further market segmentation. Radio stations have the ability to measure their success in attracting their targeted demographic group by using data published by Numeris which estimates how many people within a specific market are listening to the station. The higher a station is rated, the more revenue it can attract from both local and national advertisers. Large markets are rated four times a year with other markets rated twice a year and small markets may not be rated at all, or depending on demand, once to twice per year. Numeris does not however cover every station in every market; in many cases smaller markets must do their own market research. As part of the Company's strategy, formats are adjusted to ensure its stations are garnering a sufficiently high threshold of a specific demographic to attract advertising dollars.

In Canada's largest markets, the method of audience measurement has changed to the Portable People Meter method ("the meter method"). The meter method is considered a more accurate technique to capture listener share since individuals carry pager-like devices which automatically detect listening habits at all times during the day. The traditional diary method relies on paper or online diaries that individuals fill out manually based on their recollected radio listening habits. For the Company, four of its largest surveyed markets are measured using the meter method – Vancouver, British Columbia, Edmonton and Calgary, Alberta and Toronto, Ontario. The traditional diary method will continue to apply in markets where the meter method is not being used.

Advertising can come from local, regional or national clients. Each station has its own local and regional sales force whereas national sales are represented by advertising agencies.

Licence Expiry/Renewals

Once a company is granted a licence to operate a radio broadcasting undertaking, the CRTC's normal process is to issue a licence for a period of seven years. Approximately six to nine months prior to expiry, a company submits its application for renewal to the CRTC. This allows the CRTC to monitor the progress of a station to ensure it is meeting its conditions of licence. The most common renewal term is seven years, although shorter renewals terms have been issued in the case of non-compliance.

Segmented Financial Information

The Company has two reportable segments – Broadcasting and Corporate and Other. The Broadcasting segment consists of the operations of the Company's radio and television licences. This segment derives its revenue from the sale of broadcast advertising. This reportable segment is a strategic business unit that offers different services and is managed separately. The Company evaluates performance based on earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization. Corporate and Other consists of a hotel and the head office functions. Its revenue relates to hotel operations. Segmented financial information is included in note 19 on pages 57 and 58 of the audited consolidated financial statements, which are incorporated by reference as part of this Annual Information Form.

Third Party Revenue

Revenue from third party customers for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2016 and 2015 is segmented in the following table:

	Years ended December 31
	2016	2015
	(thousands of dollars)
Revenue
Broadcasting	$ 165,029	160,598
Corporate and other	4,502	4,004
	$ 169,531	164,602

Revenue in the Corporate and Other segment is generated from a hotel operation in Corner Brook, Newfoundland and Labrador as well as office space rental and related services revenue.

Related Party Transactions

Inter-company balances and transactions of the Company's subsidiaries are eliminated upon consolidation. Related party transactions during the year are summarized in note 20 on page 59 of the audited consolidated financial statements, which are incorporated by reference as part of this Annual Information Form.

Principal Products and Services

Details of the Company's radio broadcast licences and their markets are presented in Appendix A and are incorporated by reference as part of this Annual Information Form.

Customer Concentration

Customer bases are widely diversified with no one customer accounting for 10% or more of consolidated revenue. The Company conducts the vast majority of its business with Canadian customers and, as such, does not segment its revenue on a geographic basis.

Intangible Assets

The Company recognizes broadcast licence costs related to new licences and business and licence acquisitions as indefinite life intangible assets. Goodwill is also recognized when the cost of the acquired businesses exceeds the fair value of the net identifiable tangible and intangible assets.

The Company owns and/or uses a number of trademarks, trade names and call letters for its business. Some of these are registered and some are not registered. Those not registered are clearly identified with its business operations and therefore are not able to be used by other companies. The Company also has a number of registered domain names.

Seasonality

The Company's revenue and operating results vary depending on the quarter. The first quarter tends to be a period of lower retail spending and as a result, advertising revenue and net income are lower while the fourth quarter is generally a period of higher retail spending.

Principal Properties and Equipment

The Company operates through the principal facilities as described in Appendix A which has been appended and is incorporated by reference as part of this Annual Information Form.

The Corporate and Other segment owns properties in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia and Corner Brook, Newfoundland and Labrador.

All owned properties are pledged as collateral for bank indebtedness and long-term debt. The Company considers these properties to be in good condition. They are well maintained and have sufficient physical capacity to permit the Company to conduct its business in a safe and efficient manner.

Employees

The Company employs approximately 800 people.

Competitive Conditions

The Company operates broadcast licences throughout Canada. These stations face varying degrees of competition on a market-by-market basis from other radio stations and from other advertising media. The better a station is rated, the more revenue it can attract from both local and national advertisers. In addition, revenue directly correlates to how effective an advertising campaign is at generating results for clients. The majority of the Company's radio stations have been successful in increasing the size of their listening audience and, as a result, the majority are garnering a larger share of available radio advertising dollars.

A factor in mitigating competitive forces in a radio market is the ability of the Company to leverage its operating and programming platform over more than one station. It is in the interest of radio operators to maximize their holdings in any given market to achieve scale, maximize revenue potential and distribute operating expenses over more than one station.

Further particulars on the competitive factors, trends and other risks of the Company can be found in the Management's Discussion and Analysis, which is incorporated by reference as part of this Annual Information Form.

Regulatory Environment

Broadcast licences are regulated by the CRTC under the Broadcasting Act (Canada) and as such are licenced by the CRTC. The current Broadcasting Act was enacted in 1991. Under this Act, the CRTC is permitted to authorize licences for terms of up to seven years. Radio broadcasting activities are also regulated under the Radio Regulations, 1986, which provide general regulations and rules specific to AM and FM undertakings. In addition, specific terms and conditions are found in the broadcasting licence of each radio station.

The CRTC cannot issue, amend or renew broadcasting licences to applicants who are not Canadian. The maximum foreign ownership is restricted to 20% of the voting shares of an operating licensee company and a maximum foreign ownership of 33^{1/3}% of the issued and outstanding voting shares or 33^{1/3}% of the votes attaching to the shares of a holding company that has a subsidiary operating company licenced under the Broadcasting Act (which is the case for NCC). There are no limits on the ownership (including beneficial ownership and direct or indirect control) of non-voting shares subject to a test for “control in fact”. In addition, the Chief Executive Officer and 80% of the members of the board of directors of the operating company must be Canadian. As well, the holding company and its directors are prohibited from exercising any control or influence over any programming decisions of the subsidiary operating company where Canadians beneficially own and control, directly or indirectly, less than 80% of the voting shares (and votes) of the holding company. The CRTC retains the discretion to determine as a question of fact whether a given licensee is controlled by non-Canadians.

In order to ensure that the Company remains qualified as an eligible Canadian corporation, as indicated above and consistent with the practice of most companies holding broadcasting licences under the Broadcasting Act, NCC’s articles of incorporation contain certain restrictions on the ownership of its shares and it may refuse to issue any share or permit the registration of a transfer of any share that would jeopardize or adversely affect the right of the Company or any subsidiary thereof to obtain, maintain, amend or renew a licence to operate a radio broadcast licence as defined in the Broadcasting Act. In accordance with the articles of the Company, share certificates representing any share in the capital of the Company bear upon their face a legend to the effect that the right to register the transfer of the shares in the capital of the Company represented by such certificate is restricted.

In April 1998, the CRTC relaxed multiple ownership restrictions in local markets. The ownership of up to two AM and two FM licences is permitted in markets having eight or more commercial radio licences. The ownership of three licences, with no more than two on either the AM or FM band, is now permitted in markets of less than eight commercial radio licences. In January 2008, the CRTC re-confirmed that ownership restrictions are still appropriate within Radio. The CRTC also in this ruling outlined new restrictions in cross-media ownership between TV, Radio and local newspapers.

The CRTC has established rules that govern content on radio stations. Canadian programming must incorporate 35% of their musical selections from Canadian performers each week. In addition, commercial radio stations must ensure that 35% of the musical selections they air between 6AM and 6PM, Monday through Friday, are Canadian. Ethnic radio stations must ensure that at least 7% of the musical selections they air each week during ethnic programming periods are Canadian. In addition to regulating the programming, the CRTC requires radio operators to contribute financially to Canadian Content Development (“CCD”). This system is based on the contribution of a share of the radio station’s revenues to support Canadian musical and spoken word talent, including journalists.

Radio broadcast licences are generally renewed except in cases of breach of the conditions, in which case licences may be suspended, revoked or renewed for a shorter period. The conditions for radio stations include meeting annual reporting requirements, meeting CCD expenditure requirements, adhering to Canadian Association of Broadcasters’ Equitable Portrayal Code and Broadcast Code for Advertising to Children, and maintaining a specified percentage of Canadian content in their programming. Radio stations must also meet technical operating requirements under the Radio Communication Act (Canada). Conditions may be imposed by the CRTC on broadcasting licences which may affect the profitability of the holders of such licences. The Company currently complies with all regulations applicable to its operations and with the conditions attached to its licences.

Prior approval of the CRTC is required for transactions affecting ownership or control of broadcast licences. Transferees of ownership must demonstrate to the CRTC that such transfer is in the public interest and, in most cases, the purchaser must provide specific tangible benefits designed to benefit the Canadian broadcasting system. For radio transfer of ownership applications a commitment to provide benefits of 6% of the value of the transaction is generally expected. The CRTC will assess the impact on diversity of news editorial voices, the level of competition in a particular market and the capacity of a market for additional service when examining transfers of ownership or issuance of new licences.

In addition, the ten votes attaching to each Class B Common Share shall be decreased to one vote 180 days following the acquisition of Class B Common Shares pursuant to a take-over bid where the ownership of Class B Common Shares, after the acquisition, exceeds 50%. In all other respects, these shares rank equally.
